SUBMARINES START
FOR DARDANELLES

Combat Attack by Under-sea Warfare.

TURKS ARE AGAIN BOMBARDED

Garrison is Quickly Scattered by a Landing Force from Attacking Fleet; German U-Boats Destroyed; England Shall Have War to the Knife.

By Associated Press.
GENEVA, via Paris, March 3.—An Austrian fleet consisting of six Austro-German submarines, accompanied by several torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, left Pola, the Austrian naval base, at dawn yesterday for the Mediterranean, bound for the Dardanelles, according to the telegram which bears its report on what it characterizes as information received from a reliable source.
The fleet is said to have been last reported off Corfu.

By Associated Press.
ATHENS, via Paris, March 3.—
Nine battleships took part in yesterday's bombardment of the forts in the Dardanelles, six of them being British and three French. The squadron advanced to within two miles of Chanak (Kale), the narrowest point in the strait.
Detachments of the allies troops,
which were landed at Kumkaleh, on the Asiatic side, the Turkish position,
which was scattered easily. The telegraph station on Besika Island, near
the entrance to the strait, has been destroyed.

Paris, March 3.—The bombardment of the Dardanelles forts was resumed
yesterday, says an Athens dispatch
which said that the Turkish position,
graph station on Besika Island, near
the entrance to the strait, has been
destroyed.

The funds and books of the Ottoman Bank and the German Bank, it is said, have been taken from Constantinople to Koniah, a city in Asia Minor.

LIT ENGLAND HAVE WAR
TO KNIFE, SAY GERMANS.
By Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, via London, March 3.—The Volante Gazette, commenting on President Aquino's recent speech in the House of Commons in which he outlined Great Britain's retaliatory measures for Germany's submarine blockade of the British Isles, says:

"The submarines will now, we hope,
endeavor to destroy all goods destined for Great Britain. Britain will war to the knife. She shall have it."

NOT A SINGLE VICTORY FOR RUSSIANS, IS CLAIM

By Associated Press.
BERLIN, via London, March 3.—A correspondent in Odessa telegraphs that the Russians have not won a single complete success in their effort to regain Carpathian lands, lost by them. Heavy fighting continues, he says, along the whole line in spite of heavy snow storms. The Russians are suffering many men, the correspondent
declares, in their effort to regain mountain heights and prevent a threatened encircling of their flank.

ITALIAN WAR MINISTER
CRIES CALL TO COLORS.

By Associated Press.
ROME, March 3.—General Zuppelli, minister of war, speaking yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies in favor of the bill authorizing the recall of reserve officers, said that at the end of this month seven thousand of these officers would have been summoned to the colors.

"All classes in the nation," he said,
"are asked to enter the army."
The war minister pointed out to those who had offered their services
as volunteers, declaring their example was an inspiration to the public to meet "new needs for the defense of the Fatherland."

FIRST TRANSLATIONS OF MAILED ARE EXCHANGED

By Associated Press.
GENEVA, via Paris, March 3.—The first translations of mailed German prisoners of war who are to be exchanged for wounded French soldiers arrived here from Lyons, tomorrow about, at 9:15 o'clock last night. The special train glided slowly into the station between lines of Swiss troops.

The cars were immediately boarded by Red Cross nurses who distributed uniforms of white, who distributed blankets
among the sufferers, relieving their French co-workers of the responsibility of caring for the prisoners.
Most of the Germans had been captured by the last of a big or army and many of them had lost two limbs.
Most of them were smoking cigarettes and all were making the best of their misfortune.

At the northernmost point in Switzerland the train will pass the other train carrying incapacitated French prisoners on their way home.

COPPER SMUGGLED INTO

portation from Italy to belligerent nation of goods chased as contraband of war. It has been discovered that large quantities of copper have been sent to Berlin concealed in trucks

loaded with cabbages.
Officials now have increased their vigilance in attempting to check this trade.

AUSTRIANS NOT GAINING ON CAUCASUS FRONT

By Associated Press.
LONDON, March 3.—According to what appears to be the almost unanimous opinion of British observers, Germany and Austria are playing a losing game along nearly all of the eastern front. The situation of the Austrians in the Carpathians, judging from official and unofficial dispatches
from Petrograd, seems unfavorable while the Russians, it is said, have definitely checked them in Eastern Galicia.

Furthermore, London advisers continue to relate successes of greater or less degree for the Russians in Poland operating against the armies of Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

The allied fleet again bombarded the Dardanelles yesterday, according to messages from Athens but the British press bureau has not confirmed this report. The Athens message says that four ships shelled the interior forts from the Gulf of Saros and that the anxiety at Constantinople is increasing.

The attitude of the neutral powers
over Great Britain's proposal to shut off all sea traffic with Germany
formed the basis of most of the pression comment published today in England. The London papers through their Washington correspondents all have told the United States will protest vigorously and protests are also expected from Holland and the Scandinavian countries. Yet it is not believed that England will recede
one whit from her announced intention but that if necessary she will define her blockade measures and seek to make them effective.

It is argued in London that Germany, without domination of the sea
and carrying on an attempted blockade with submarines is naturally willing to make concessions regarding her marine war zone.

AUSTRIAN WARSHIPS
HOPEFULLY ANTIVARI

By Associated Press.
LONDON, March 3.—Austrian warships have been bombarding Antivari, the support of Montenegro. They inflicted considerable damage.
This information is contained in a dispatch from Cetinje, received today by the Montenegrin consul general in London.

WILHELMINA ORDERED
INTO PRIZE COURT.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 3.—N. B.
Lindholm, attorney for shipowners of the cargo of the American steamship Wilhelmina, now detained at Ful-mouth, England, announced today
that he had received word that a writ had been issued placing the cargo in a prize court.

FROM LINE OF SUPPLIES

By Associated Press.
TEHRAN, via Constantinople, via Petrograd and London, March 3.—The Russian army of the Caucasus, driving the Turkish forces before it, has reached the river Khopras in Armenia. This advance by the Russians cuts the route of the Turkish reinforcements and supplies from Constantinople to the Caucasian frontier through Khopras. Turkish Ar-

WANTS PERSONAL
REGISTRATION IN CITIES ABOLISHEDSenator Clark of Erie Declares Present Law
is Foolish.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR BIG TOWNS

Father of the Commission Government Bill Introduces a Repealer Which Applies to Third Class Cities, Including Connellsville. It May Pass.

Special to The Courier.
HARRISBURG, March 3.—Senator
Clark of Erie, who two years ago stood sponsor for the commission form of government bill for the third class cities, favors abolishing personal registration in cities of this class.
"Personal registration may be all right for cities the size of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton, where one is apt to meet many strangers, but there is no good reason why cities the size of my home city, Erie, and cities much smaller should be burdened with such a system of getting the voters registered," Senator Clark said today.

Anyway, under present conditions one who has lived for years in the same voting precinct must annually go before the registrars and tell them the color of his eyes and his hair, give his weight and answer a lot of other nonsensical questions. This should not be done. We can well afford to discard the personal registration of voters in third class cities," he went on.

There is a bill on second reading in the House, abolishing the present system of registering voters in third class cities. If this measure passes through the quietus will be put to a bill introduced by Representative W. W.
Jones of Lackawanna. It would create a board of three registration commissioners in each city at a salary of $500 each per annum. They would be appointed by the governor.

Senator Clark is opposed to the suggestion that the nonpartisan feature of the commission form of government bill be dropped. He thinks the new law should be given another two years trial before such a radical change is made.

Representative Powell of Luzerne,
in the House, has put in a bill that calls for the posting of primary election returns on the door of each public place, right after the count has been completed. Powell's bill also calls for the result being announced
by voice from either window or door of the voting booth.

Another of Powell's bill provides that all employees of the bureau of the state shall be paid semi-monthly.
In another bill, it is provided that warrants on the borough controller shall designate the fund from which the money is to be taken.

The child labor bill was introduced in the House this morning by Cosgrove of Philadelphia. It prohibits children under 14 from working except during the vacation season, when the limit is reduced to 12 years. Children between 11 and 15 must attend school at least one full working day
each week and between 15 and 16 at least half a day. A 5-hour week

PRINCIPAL CONVICTED FOR DECEIVING PRETTY GIRLJury, After an All-Night Debate, Recommends Walls to Mercy
of Court.

UNIONTOWN, March 3.—After an all-night debate in the jury room, an agreement was reached at 6 o'clock
this morning in the case of Arley Walls, the 19-year-old principal of the Coaling school in North Union township where he was charged with seduction and paternity. A verdict was returned in court shortly after 9 o'clock finding him guilty as charged, but the jury recommended a recommendation to the mercy of the court. The testimony of Ruth Mc-Laughlin, the pretty prosecutrix, and the letters of Walls to her introduced in the trial in the case here before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen yesterday caused a stir.

It is probable that a motion for a new trial will be presented to the court by Attorney H. B. Brannfield, who represented Walls at the trial.
The young school principal is the son of Porter Walls, a West Penn conductor, and the father of the young man has signified his intention of fighting the case to the highest court.
It is so.

Young Walls was not in court today when the verdict was taken, but his father was here and the verdict was communicated to him by Atorney Brannfield.

In Judge Van Swearingen's court
this forenoon the case of Alfonso Zamarelli was called. Alfonso Zamarelli has been indicted for the murder of Tony Lockhart at Republic, Pa. Lockhart, the indictment charges, was being tried for a statutory crime against Mary Lockhart, the young daughter of the man Zamarelli is alleged to have murdered. The murder charges are not to be tried until some time next week.

The action against Frank McLaughlin, former county detective, charged by County Detective John J. Smith with abducting a witness, appears to have struck a snag before the grand jury. McLaughlin's case was the first one listed for trial yesterday, but no return has been made by the grand jury. It is said that the information taken up by the grand jury on Monday, but that there was insufficient evidence to warrant an indictment. The case was held over,
and it is declared that unless more testimony is presented by the district attorney, the case against McLaughlin will be ignored. Detective McLaughlin is alleged to have prevented Charles Romberger, the prosecutor against Wesley Mager, an alleged pickpocket, from attending court and testifying.

A verdict of guilty of felonious assault and pointing a firearm, was returned in Judge Unbeh's court today against Willie Wells, a Coon Hollow negro. He is alleged to have shot at George Banks, whom he was presented for liquor selling. Willie Wells is the tenth of the hollow's inmates to have been convicted at this term
of court.

GETS NEW QUARTERS.

West Penn Will Move Its Offices In Pittsburgh.

The West Penn Traction Company
has leased the fourth, fifth and sixth floors of the seventh floor of the Benedict-Trees Building in Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, for a long term of years. This will give the company about 19,000 square feet of floor space, and it is said that permanent headquarters for many departments
now located elsewhere will be in Pittsburgh.

Inquiry at the local office of the West Penn as to the probability of any of the department headquarters
being moved from Connellsville elicited the information that no change was considered likely and that no word of any such action
had been received here.

HAD PLACE TO FIGHT.

Dogs Pick Street Car Truck and Both of Them are Killed.

While engaged in a fight yesterday afternoon two West Side dogs were killed by a West Penn street car. The dogs were fighting on the sidewalk
near the intersection of the street and the car was passing. One of the dogs was killed and the other was seriously injured. The car was stopped and the driver was called to the scene. The dogs were killed by the car's wheels.

SALE OF GARBAGE
PLANT TO CITY IS OPPOSED BY BOARDHealth Authorities Declare That Refuse is Not Being Burned.

INTIMATE FURNACE IS FAILURE

Member States that Purchase by City
Would Enable Board to Prevent Pollution of Run, Now Tolerated by Township Authorities; Also Views.

That council could not purchase the plant of the Connellsville Garbage Company, even if it decided that such a step would be wise, because the Board of Health would step in and prevent it, is a statement of a member of that body. So long as the city keeps its skirts clear of the garbage plant, the sanitation of the plant comes under the jurisdiction of the township health officer, but if the city should decide to acquire the plant,
the local board would have authority to act. Assurance is given that it would do so. The charge is made that the plant is not properly equipped to burn all garbage, and that much of it is merely dumped.

"It would take the city a long time
to dispose of the refuse already dumped out there," was the statement of the board member. "Under the terms of its ordinance everything should be consumed, even the tin cans, but the incinerator cannot do this."

The claim is also made that Connellsville is being polluted by the garbage plant. At the time the "city beautiful" plan was called for a pleasure ride under the East Park bridge, the Board of Health was prepared to put its disapproval on the proposition, on the ground that the water of the stream was not pure.

With a properly equipped plant,
which any town could have such things burned, it should be possible for the company to pay a premium for dead horses, as fertilizer companies in other cities do. It should be possible to get at least $5 worth of fuel from one carcass, they claim, yet to mention the hide, bones, etc., yet the new schedule of rates of the company, as proposed to council recently, set a charge of $7.50 for the removal of a carcass.

SEIK STURGE'S END.
Secretary of Labor Believes Ohio Settlement is Near.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Conferences between Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor and representatives of the coal miners of Eastern Ohio, in an effort to bring to an end differences between the miners and the operators, were temporarily concluded yesterday. It was announced that they would be resumed after the labor leaders had conferred with their associates in Ohio, for which purpose
they left Washington last night.

Secretary Wilson said that neither side had as yet submitted any definite proposal for the settlement of the strike, but that he was hopeful an adjustment of the troubles would be reached soon.

WILL WAIVE EXAMINATION.

Want Said to be Willing to Return to Project County.

According to a dispatch from Tampa, Florida, Ralph Wiant, the fugitive express messenger, was arrested there yesterday for authorities at Connellsville of receiving $15,000
from the United States Express Company about a year ago.

The dispatch states that Wiant confessed the crime and said he would return to Connellsville without resistance. He is stated to have been living in Tampa under the name of Ralph Wagner.

PRISONERS MUST WORK.

Commissioners Propose to Put Jail
Inmates on the Road.

Prisoners committed to jail from Connellsville are facing manual labor
on the state road, according to the action of the county commissioners yesterday.

Instead of turning the municipal prisoners loose when the jail gets crowded, as was wont to be the case,
they will be put to work on the state road. This, it is believed, will prevent many of them from coming back for "encores."

SEND BODY HOME.

Victim of Auto Joy Ride Taken to Bellevue.

The body of J. W. Roley, of Bellevue, killed when an automobile overturned on the National Pike at Hopewell Monday night, was shipped to his home yesterday. Miss Gertha Roley, the mother, who accompanied Roley, was released from the University hospital yesterday afternoon.
Decayed is survived by his mother, Mrs. Hannah M. Roley of Bellevue, five sisters and one brother.

Fairmont Bank Closes.
FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 3.—
The City Dollar Savings Bank, a $50,000 state institution, has been temporarily closed. Its affairs are said to have been in an unsatisfactory condition for some time past.

Work is resumed on the Young bridge today for Utah to attempt a peaceful settlement with the Connellsville Iron Works today.

LAYLAND MINE YIELDS 3
MORE BODIES; 13 KNOWN DEADTrained Nurses Examine Workings; Aftermath Hinders Work of Rescue.

By Associated Press.
HINTON, W. Va., March 3.—
Trained miners working under the direction of engineers of the Federal Bureau of Mines today penetrated the entire length of the mine entry in the Layland mine where an explosion occurred yesterday. Three bodies were recovered, bringing the known dead to 13. Leaders of the rescue work expressed the opinion that when the rooms were reached many more bodies would be found.

Karl A. Henry, chief of the West Virginia mining department said the workings were filled with aftermath
and he believed many lives had been lost. The rescuers are erecting bridges as they advance. Yesterday afternoon before them, but the chief said he thought two or three days might pass before the mine was cleared.

Officers of the company refused today to make an estimate of the number of men who entered the workings yesterday as records of men employed in mines usually considered safe are not often kept. A carload of coffins arrived at the mine this morning.

TWO BADLY BURNED

Hurt When Gasoline Blowpipe Is Struck by a Hammer.

Two men were painfully burned
when a blow-pipe exploded at the Connellsville Garbage on Apple street yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock.
The injured are V. S. Suricker, 23, burns of hands and face, and C. O.
Sticker, 28, severe burns of face, neck
and arms.

Both men were removed to the Cottage State Hospital. Sticker is the more seriously burned, but neither is in a serious condition.

The men were at work on the frame
of an automobile when one of them accidentally struck the burner on a blow-pipe torch with a hammer. The released the gasoline and the pressure
was sufficient to cause an explosion.
The burning gas ignited their clothing, but the flames were extinguished.
Temporary aid was given the injured men by a physician until they could be removed to the hospital.

INLAND ORE HOLDING

Important Purchase of Leases in Minn. With Bond Issue Proceeds.

With the proceeds of a new issue of $1,000,000 of its 3 per cent extension and refunding bonds, the Inland Steel Company of Chicago has made an important purchase of additional iron ore leases in Minnesota.
The new leases, together with the three previously purchased, are leased by the company on the Mesabi and Cuyuna ranges to Minnesota, will give it one of the most extensive holdings of iron ore in the country outside those possessed by the United States Steel Corporation, the Great Northern Ore Properties and the Republic Iron & Steel Company.

A portion of the proceeds of the bond sale will be used to defray the cost of general improvements to the company's plants.

LOTS OF ARRESTS.

There are 60 Now Doing Time in Uniontown Lockup.

According to persons coming from Uniontown early this morning, the police there arrested 47 men on various charges yesterday and last night. With 13 already in the cells there serving sentences, the night's round-up made 66 in all.

Never in Connellsville's history, the police say, were that number arrested. Uniontown has equalled that on several occasions.

Undergo Throat Operations.

Glady Sticker, 10 years old, and her sister, Ida Sticker, 7 years old, of this city, were operated on for throat trouble this morning at the Cottage State Hospital. Mrs. Elizabeth Get-chell of North Pittsburgh street, who underwent an operation, was discharged today.

May Work Open Shop.
If satisfactory arrangements cannot be made between the steel mills

valley will be operated on an open-shop basis.

Small Bequests are Provided for Grandchildren and Income from Property Assigned; Two Sons Named Executors; The Debit are Small.

By the terms of the will of John D.
Frisebe, probated today at Uniontown,
the estate, which is valued at $400-000, is to be divided at the end of 10 years, among the surviving children: Katharine B. Frisebe, Herbert C. and Mrs. Jeanne Gans. Fred and Herbert Frisebe are named executors and given the management of the estate.
The Frisebe estate is unique in that there are no debts against it, with the exception of the funeral expenses
and the services of a nurse during Mr. Frisebe's illness. The real estate, valued at $250,000 and the personal property at $150,000.

To his grandchildren John D. Frisebe and John D. Frisebe, Jr., are left gold watches. John and Samuel Rankin each get $1,000, while Emily Louise Rankin, a granddaughter, receives $2,000.

To his daughter, Katharine B. Frisbee, are given the rent and income of the West Penn building on Main street and the occupancy of the Main street residence is given to Fred and Katharine Frisebe. Herbert Frisebe receives 48 1/2 acres in Connellsville township, known as the Frisebe farm, with the stock and machinery. The unimproved tract on East Main street
is willed to Fred, Katharine and Mrs.
Gans.

The family property at the corner of Prospect and Main streets, is given to Fred Frisebe, but it is stipulated that for $15,000 is to be charged to his account in the final distribution of the estate. The right to occupy the Main street hardware store room is given to the sons, Fred and Herbert Frisebe at an annual rental of $200
and the warehouse in the rear at a rental of $48 a year.

A monument is to be erected to the memory of Mr. Frisebe and his wife,
but the stipulation is that if the estate
is worth less than $100,000, this is left to the discretion of the executors.
The income of the estate is to be distributed annually among the four children. The will was made on November 7, 1914, with E. C. Higbee and John A. Green as witnesses.

WOMAN ON TRIAL.

Will Answer Charge of Killing a Wealthy Stamford Man.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 3.—
The trial of Mrs. Helen M. Angle of Stamford on a charge of manslaughter
in connection with the death of Val-die H. Ballou, prominent resident of Stamford, was set for the superior court here today. Mrs. Angle is charged with having given Ballou blows that knocked him down a stairway and caused his death.

It was expected that the testimony of the accused woman herself would be the chief defense. Because of the shattered health the trial had been postponed from time to time.

menia and isolates a large section of Turkish territory. This includes the districts of Ardahan, Ardahan, Oltu and Surt Kanyan.

The Russian forces advanced from Batum on the Black Sea, near the Turkish border and were opposed by the Turks at every step. They were assisted by Turkish forces which cleared the shore of Turkish and cut off successfully several avenues of Turkish communication by sea until only the Khoras route remained. After a battle of three days this last route was effectively closed.

FRENCH HOLD LONG LINE OF THE ENEMY'S TRENCHES

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 3.—In the region of Champagne the French hold the entire first line of German trenches extending from Verdun to Beaumont and at several points they have made progress beyond this line, according to the official statement today.

Heavy cannonading is reported from the Argonne district. On the rest of the front nothing of importance has happened.

ENGLISH LOSE OUT IN HAND-TO-AND FIGHTS

By Associated Press.

BELFEST, via London, March 3.—Violent hand-to-hand fighting which has resulted in the repulsing of 100 English companies near St. Eloi, south of Ypres, and the driving back of the French attack in Champagne with heavy losses are reported today in the German official statement.

French advances near Arras were also reported.

The German front, the report continues, northeast of Colles and advanced five miles during the last few days.

In the east the Russian forces endeavored to cross the river Dnieper northeast of Augustowa but it was driven back with heavy losses. Other Russian attacks near Oradno broke down in front of the German line. Gains for the German in other sections of the Eastern front are also reported.

RUSSIAN FORCES SILENCED

WARSAW, Russia, March 3.—A German airplane today bombarded Warsaw. Most of the bombs fell in the residential districts. Many windows were shattered, but there were no casualties.

AN EASY WAY TO INCREASE WEIGHT

Good Advice for Thin Folks.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drinking their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master stroke of modern chemistry is called Sizzel and has been termed the greatest of flesh builders. Sizzel stimulates the regenerative power of the body to make the stomach and intestines so literally soak up the fat-laden elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every corner, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sizzel is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists of Connellsville and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied as per the guarantee found in every package. Caution—While Sizzel has given excellent results in overcoming nervous indigestion and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.—Adv.

ASK AMERICAN AID

Chinese Christians Want U. S. to Intervene in Their Behalf.

Members of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. at Washington are addressing letters to all of the Y. M. C. A. organizations of the country asking that petitions be sent President Wilson urging him to intervene in behalf of China against the domination of Japan.

The Christian Chinese maintain that Japan's ultimatum is forced upon China, all that has been gained through the recent establishment of a republic in the Orient will be lost, and China will become a vassal state, dominated entirely by Japan.

Secretary H. T. H. has just received one of the letters, which is signed by William W. Chung, president of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. of Washington.

Married in Cumberland

Miss Mary Jane Vander of Perry, and Milton Sullivan of Mount Pleasant, Miss Amanda McNeill and H. Clark Mofford, both of Confluence, were married in Cumberland yesterday.

SOCIETY.

Well Appointed Dance.

Markell Hall was the scene of a large and well appointed dance given last evening by the Ladies Aid Society of the United Methodist congregation. Music was furnished by Kiefer's orchestra and dancing was kept up until after midnight. There was an intermission and the guests assembled on the third floor, where a well arranged supper was served. Vases of carnations and roses formed the attractive centerpiece.

The dance was the largest and most successful benefit affair given by the society for some time. The officers of the society are Mrs. S. M. Levy, president; Mrs. William Herzberg, vice president; and Mrs. Sel Rosenfield, secretary.

Out of town guests were: Misses Lora and Gertrude Wolf, Miss Abels, Miss Baker, Isaac Belyun, M. Hyman, Edward Herzberg, Ben Baker of Morgantown; Misses Frances Tyler, Miss Lucille Whitfield, David Tyler, Louis Morris and Mr. Ely of Pittsburgh; Julian Rosenbaum, of Uniontown; Samuel Miller of Scotland; Miss Nettie Friedman of Fairbairn; Miss Jeanne Silverman, Miss Sydney Silverman of Dunbar; Miss Mary and Abigail of New Salem; Mr. Frank of Wheeling, W. V.; Miss Leah and Alex Weiss of Mount Pleasant.

Afternoon at Fanny Work.

The Greenvale Ladies Fanny Work Club was pleasantly entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. R. O. Bruce at her home on Morris avenue, Greenvale. Twelve members and seven guests attended. A business meeting was held and Mrs. Lillian Keyser was elected president, and Mrs. Robert Allen secretary. Fanny work and a delightful musical program were the amusements. A pretty well appointed luncheon was served. The guests were Mrs. E. B. Gale of Dunbar; Miss Mary R. Roseman of Philadelphia; Mrs. Everett Camp and two children, Mrs. Charles Ritchie, Mrs. L. Leaphine of Greenvale. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lillian Keyser on Ninth street, Greenvale.

Will Entertain Card Club.

Mrs. W. J. Bailey will entertain the Thursday Afternoon Card Club tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home on Isabella road.

Dancers Will Meet.

The monthly meeting of the Young Men's Social Club will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Dr. T. H. White on West Eighth street, China Town.

The committee of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a club tea Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. R. Kenney in East Main street. Mrs. J. M. Herpke is chairman of the committee.

Eight members of the C. L. Fanny Work Club attended the regular meeting at which Miss Blanche Jamison was hostess last evening at her home on Allegheny avenue, South Connellsville. The evening was delightfully spent at fanny work and other amusements. Refreshments were served. Mrs. R. C. Shipley of South Connellsville was a guest. Miss Ella Mae Graft will entertain the club on Tuesday evening, March 16.

Ad and Missionary Society.

The Ladies Aid and Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. V. J. Rye on West 10th street, North Connellsville. The program will consist of a play, a song and a prayer.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Protestant church is being held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. John S. Hetzel on West Green street. Supper at Ten Room.

Members of "Rollin Hood" company gave a course supper last night at the West Side Ten Room. Following the performance at the Colonial Theatre, covers for fifteen were laid.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Methodists Arrange a Special Service for March 14.

A special "Go to Church Sunday" is being arranged by the First Methodist Episcopal church for Sunday, March 14. It is said there are many Methodists in Connellsville, many of whom are not affiliated with the local church, and Rev. G. L. C. Richardson is arranging the program for Sunday, March 14, with a view to making them especially attractive to the Methodists who have been attending services.

A personal workers league was formed at a reception given by the Men's Bible Class in the church last evening. C. M. Lashner was elected president; Clarence Rippman, vice president; and Jacob Welling, secretary. The aim is to enlist 100 personal workers to be constantly in the field.

Cottage prayer services will be held on the West Side this week. Tonight will be held at the home of Mrs. George Richardson, 105 West Main street, and tomorrow night at the home of Harry Ford, 105 South Eighth street.

There will be preaching at the mid-week service this evening. Last Sunday night there were ten conversions and a dozen persons united with the church.

WILL WATSON HERE

Passes Through Town on Way to New Cumberland, W. Va.

Rev. C. M. Watson, pastor of the First Christian Church of Norfolk, Va., and a former pastor of the Christian church of this city, was in town yesterday night on his way to New Cumberland, W. Va., to visit his parents.

Rev. Watson has been engaged in conducting a successful financial campaign for the purchase of a new building at Norfolk and has been given a vacation by his congregation. While in Connellsville he was greeted by many of his friends.

1914 PIG IRON PRODUCTION IS SMALLEST SINCE 1908

Decrease From Previous Year of 7,633,998 Tons, Says Iron & Steel Institute Bulletin.

The production of pig iron in the United States for 1914, was the smallest since 1908, according to the figures given by the Iron & Steel Institute in its special statistical bulletin No. 1 for 1915. There were 23,352,241 tons of pig iron produced last year, compared with 30,986,152 tons in 1913, a decrease of 7,633,998 tons, or 24.65 per cent.

Pig iron output last year was 9,670,447 tons, less than the production of 10,532,251 tons in 1913, a decrease of 861,804 tons.

A decrease of nearly 4,000,000 tons was shown in the production for the second half of 1914, as compared with the first six months of that year. Second half production was 10,796,150 tons against 12,546,091 in the six months ended June 30.

On December 31 last there were 147 blast furnaces in blast, one of a total of 151 furnaces, compared with 208 furnaces in blast at June 30.

CRITICAL MOMENTS

What the War Teaches.

Every life has its critical moments. There are times when a man's health is staked upon the care he gives to it within a few hours. His system may be run down, blood laden with biliousness, and he may feel like a man who is twenty-four hours after he has started to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, poisonous matter and blood impurities begin to leave your body through the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

So wonderfully penetrating is this purely vegetable remedy that through the circulation of the blood it reaches every fibre, muscle and joint, dissolves the poisonous secretions and drives them out of the body.

It brings new energy to the liver, stomach and bowels in a short time, thus causing indigestion, indigestion and constipation to disappear.

It enters the tiny blood vessels of the skin, bringing with it fresh vitalizing blood, and bidding fair to give a wonderful cleansing power to the skin, thousands, which pimples, boils, carbuncles, rash, eczema, acne and other skin troubles dry up and disappear.

Good blood means good health; good health means strong men and women, full of vigor and ambition, who are alert and muscular every waking hour. Medicine dealer will supply you with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in either liquid or tablet form. Remember it is purely vegetable, and free from alcohol and narcotics and is not a secret remedy for all its ingredients are published on wrapper.

Winter Coughs, the Early Form of Bronchitis

Winter cough is the early form of bronchitis and comes after exposure to cold and wet. Acute bronchitis or pneumonia often follows. A short, painful, dry cough, a feeling of rawness and pain in throat and behind breast bone, and oppression in chest are danger signals. Coughs that last more than a few days, ease the pain, reduce the inflammation and bring relief. Start taking Dr. Williams' Cough Syrup today. A few doses will make you feel better. Guaranteed by Grocers and Druggists. 25 and 50 cents. No opiates.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the Quickest and Surest Stomach Relief.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or has a lump of acid, refusing to digest, or you feel gas and cramps, or you have a feeling of distention, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent boxes of Pape's Diapepsin then you will understand why, despite troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless, tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat, besides, it makes you go to the toilet with a healthy appetite. But what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation. This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach ills.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—mild but effective, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' discovery that the liver and bowels complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or cause the laxative habit. They trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong laxatives.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "biliousness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "release" the bowels and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

MOUNT PLEASANT

MOUNT PLEASANT, March 3.—On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 16 and 17, Dr. W. H. Wedderspoon of the Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church of Washington, D. C., will deliver two of his popular lectures. The subject for Tuesday evening is "Beside the Bonfire of the Damned," and on Wednesday, "The Days of Auld Lang Syne." This is part of a series of lectures that will be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church of this place during the spring months.

Andrew Seaman, a well known farmer who lives near Stauffer, while traveling through here on Monday, was badly cut and bruised when the horse he was driving became frightened and ran off, throwing him out of the buggy. The horse trampled on the man's head and a couple of stitches were required to dress the laceration. Dr. J. A. Burkholder dressed the injured man's wounds.

The Civic Club held their annual meeting on Monday afternoon when Mrs. Mary A. Marsh was elected president and Mrs. D. M. Piggan, treasurer. The other two members holding office are Mrs. James S. Braddock, vice president, and Mrs. John Town, secretary. They also decided on taking up vacant lot gardening on a small scale this year. This work will be in charge of Rev. Hartman and the work will be begun in the lots back of West Smithfield street.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular monthly meeting yesterday and after singing all hymns, partially arranged to observe three red letter days, entered into one which will be the Seal Day, Union Signal and Day of Prayer. This will be held during the week of March 22.

The local Independents are practicing and hope to even up with Scotland at the State Armory on Friday evening when they meet to play the fourth of a series of five games that they are playing.

The Young Men's Bible Class of the United Brethren Church will hold a pork and sauerkraut supper in the church tomorrow evening. For those not wishing these things there will be a good meal.

The S. R. O. Dramatic Club have begun rehearsals for their play, "College Town," which they will give early in April.

Ray Goodwin of Connelville was here calling on friends yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goldsmith left on Monday for Harrisburg for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Samuel Williams of Williamsburg is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Laura Zindell is spending a week with "Aunt" Carrie Danley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop of Sayre, Pa., are visiting relatives here.

Left Friday was Patricia Day of Fairview school, Mount Pleasant township. More than 70 visitors enjoyed the program which the pupils and the teacher, Miss Anna L. Fitzgerald, had prepared. Among the visitors was the Mount Joy school and their teacher, Miss Lucella Lemmon.

They tame all weather

Why be subject to the caprices of the weather? Why let your mental and physical states, as well as your earning powers, be subject to the alternating rawness, chill, drafts and zero snaps, until you feel that with the shortcomings of your old fashioned heating equipment the house seems roofless? Why not make your own climate in the home, no matter how fickle or fierce the weather, by flooding the house at any moment with cozy, genial comfort at turn of a radiator valve?

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

An IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators will assist much to reduce the cost of living and better the living by making your home a brighter, healthier, happier place in which to live. These outfits keep the house warm from eight to twenty-four hours on one charge of fuel, depending on the severity of the weather; they relieve household drudgery because requiring little attention; and they scatter no ash-dust or coal-gases into the living rooms to ruin furnishings and endanger health. Their cleanliness reduces housecleaning one-half.

A No. 1118 IDEAL Boiler and 215 sq. ft. of 30-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing but the owner $120, were used to heat this cottage. No need to tear up floors, nor disturbing old heating equipment until the new is ready for use.

Our free book "Ideal Heating Investments" tells much that will pay you to know. Start today to tame the weather by making your own inside climate, and tell us the kind and size building you wish to heat. Put us under no obligation to buy. Act now. Write (don't forget to enclose more than 10 years past) and you get the services of the most skillful fitters! Write, phone or call today.

An unailing Vacuum Cleaner—suction pipe runs to each floor. Price $150.

We also make the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner; connected by iron suction pipe to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, etc. Through a light-weight hose ALL the dirt, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into big sealed dust-bucket in cellar or side room. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable cleaner—instead, you have a practical outfit that is part of the building—like radiator heating. Ask for catalog—it doesn't obligate you to buy.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terro Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terro Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womanhood a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

DUNBAR, March 3.—Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Riley and children of Youngwood who have been here for the past few days the guest of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Miner, returned home today.

Miss May Robbins of Connelville, visited Miss Jean Herbert on Tuesday evening.

Miss Hensie Kemp of Mount Braddock, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Miner.

Mrs. Helen Deffenbaugh of Hopwood, visited friends here yesterday.

Mrs. E. J. Lemon and son, of Wilkensburg, returned to their home after spending a few days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Miner.

Miss Nell Farrell of Greensburg, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell of Speers Hill.

Mrs. Edward Jay and Mrs. Frank McDaniel were calling on friends in Connelville Tuesday.

Mrs. W. L. Seaman and daughter attended "Robin Hood" on Tuesday night in the Colonial Theatre, Connelville.

C. L. Wilson was a business caller at Smithfield on Tuesday.

There will not be much municipal legislation at this session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, but it is probable that the numerous local tax offices will be consolidated into one.

Superintendent Thomas Rodman has been called to Pittsburgh to supervise the plans. The concern moved here seven years ago from Niles O., and has operated at full capacity ever since.

SEVEN YEARS OF STOMACH MISERY

Constant Misery Due to Disordered Stomach Takes Enjoyment From Life.

There are a multitude of stomach sufferers in this universe and the vast majority of them have sought permanent relief, vainly, sometimes they take a dose of medicine and it relieves, but they repeat the process with more temporary relief, but the cure is obtainable with constant treatment for a reasonable time to permit the stomach to become again in working order. Often enough the liver also needs attention in connection with the stomach treatment as do the bowels. No one but a sufferer from stomach trouble can fully realize the misery of the sufferer and the resulting complications for stomach trouble.

The following statement from a pleased patient of the Inter-State Doctors will be an interesting example of the quick results obtainable under the new system of medicine as practiced by the Inter-State Doctors, who have their famous medical institute on the second floor of the Citizens National Bank building, corner of Fifth and Apple streets, opposite the Aaron furniture store.

McKeesport, Pa.
To the Public:—
I have been suffering with stomach trouble complicated with a bad throat and tonsils for a long time. I was advised to see the Inter-State Doctors and began to improve soon after starting their treatment. Now I am entirely well of stomach trouble and other ills with just two months' treatment. I feel fine and think it just to make this statement for publication for the benefit of other sufferers.

(Signed) Mrs. Mary Leubetter, 225 Erie Street.
The Inter-State Doctors furnish all medicines direct from their own laboratory maintained and operated by them. They treat all forms of chronic and deep-seated diseases of the nervous, blood, heart, kidney, liver, bladder, brain, spine, including rheumatism, epilepsy, gutta, paralysis, chronic constipation, dyspepsia, chronic, appendicitis, ruptured, asthma, catarrh, neuritis, neuritis, eczema and other diseases of women and of men. Their office hours are again announced as being from 9 A. M. to 12 noon, 1:30 to 5:30 P. M., and 7:30 to 9:30 P. M. The Inter-State Doctors institute is a permanent establishment and is open every day in the year at the above stated hours.—Adv.

Woman's World

Helen Gardner Thinks Moving Pictures an Aid in Beauty Culture.

MISS HELEN GARDNER.

Miss Helen Gardner, the beautiful star of the moving picture theaters, has very decided views as to what constitutes beauty. Real loveliness lies in the peace and control of expression, she avers.

"I believe," says Miss Gardner, "that as a promoter of real beauty, the beauty of expression, the picture play is without an equal. Symmetrical features and clearness of skin are desirable gifts, and the possessor of them is fortunate, indeed, but beauty of expression is to be envied more than a beautiful complexion."

"Unlike upon the speaking stage, the figures on the screen are enlarged to many times their natural size, and in the closing 'close up' scenes every muscle of the face and every movement of the eyes are shown as though under a magnifying glass."

"The successful motion picture actress is a thorough mistress of the art of expressive action and by it attracts and holds the interest and sympathy of her audiences. Paint and powder and colored stage settings play no part in the influence she exerts over the attention she commands. It is her beauty—not the symmetrical beauty of face or figure, but the beauty of truth and the magnificence of soul reflected and glorified in expression—that is the real charm."

"Stick to your creams and your rouges if you will. They are harmless little vanities. But study beauty of expression if you would be genuinely attractive."

BAYONET CHARGES.

Hand to Hand Conflicts Are Rare Upon the Field of Battle.

In a talk about military methods in warfare General Stephen M. Weld, in discussing stories of bayonet charges, said:

"I do not know of a single case in our war where bayonets were actually crossed. I heard of one or two, but I never happened to see one."

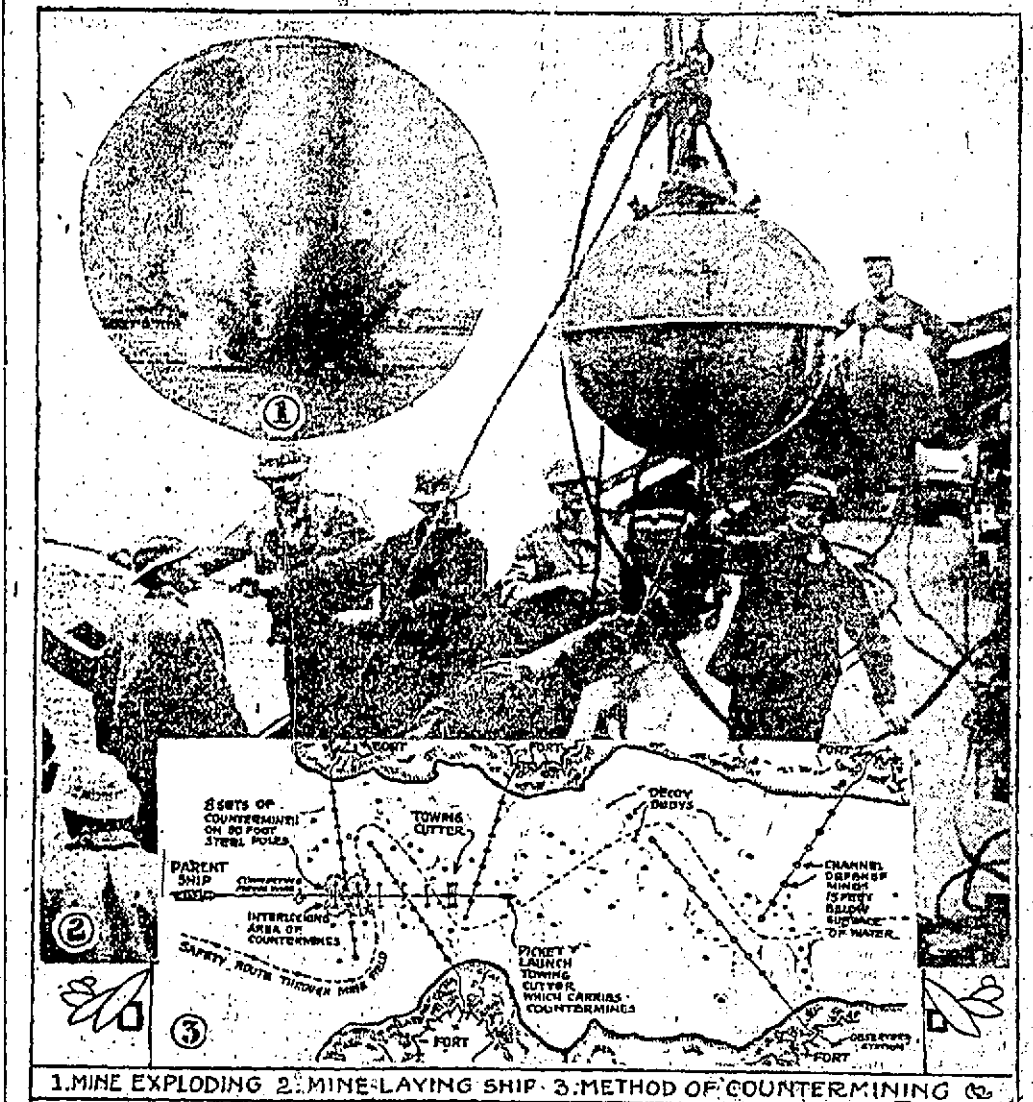

"In the numerous charges made by our corps in the Wilderness campaign the only one we ever made successfully was on the 17th of June. Our division had already charged and been repulsed. Our division was then ordered to make a charge across a plain some 200 yards wide. Colonel Gould had command of the division, which placed the brigade in my hands."

"Before charging the men were ordered to remove the caps from their guns and when they did charge were told to log it like blazes, which they did. In almost no time we were over the 200 yards, subjected to a storm of shell and musketry and only one volley from the infantry in the enemy's trenches. One-half of the men in our regiment were lost in this charge."

"Here was a case where you would suppose we might have crossed bayonets. On the contrary, the Confederates fled, the same as we would have done had we been attacked. We captured their knapsacks and everything they had in the trenches just as they were."—Exchange.

THE EUROPEAN WAR IN BIBLE PROPHECY.

Unfanned of passions have burst forth, devouring the lands that patient hands have beautified and made fertile, and centuries have soaked with art treasures. To the entire world the war has come as a complete surprise because they have not read our book (92 pages—cloth) telling that just such conditions would exist, only to be followed by the still greater devastation of anarchy. The first edition came from the press in 1897.

Of vast interest and importance is its promise of better things in store for this earth, when the wrath of nations has run its course. Send thirty-four cents in stamps (with this coupon) to cover postage, to The Temple, No. 21 W. 3rd St., New York City, and receive a copy promptly.

An Immense Help.

A society woman at a tea in Newport praised the talents of a Baltimore girl. "She dresses exquisitely," said the guest, who, dressing exquisitely herself, is an admirable judge. "Her hats, her shoes, her collar—its all exquisite."

"And I like to see her take such pains with her appearance," the guest added. "It is wise. For a girl can't help her looks, but her looks can help her."—Exchange.

PROLOGUE.

"Who is she?"
 "How did she get there?"
 These are the questions the Fool asked of the caretaker of the venerable castle of that high handed old robber baron, the first of the Rothlofens.
 And these are the questions the interested reader starts to ask and keeps on asking while Author McCutcheon develops one of the most mysterious, humorous and sprightly stories that ever came from his pen.
 "Who is she?"
 "How did she get there?"
 Read on and you will find much entertainment as well as the answer to these pertinent queries.

CHAPTER I.

I Make No Effort to Defend Myself.

I AM quite sure it was my Uncle Elias who said that I was a fool. If memory serves me well he believed himself of that conviction in the presence of my mother—whose brother he was—at a time when I was least competent to acknowledge his wisdom and most arrogant in asserting my own. I was a freshman in college, a fact of condition perhaps which should serve as an excuse for both of us. I possessed another uncle, incidentally, and while I am now convinced that he must have felt as Uncle Elias did about it, he was one of those who suffer in silence.

I assume, therefore, that it was Uncle Elias who only convicted me, an assumption justified to some extent by putting two and two together, after the poor old gentleman was laid away for his long sleep. He had been very emphatic in his belief that a fool and his money are soon parted. Up to the time of his death I had been in no way qualified to dispute this ancient truism. In theory, no doubt, I was the first of the few referred to, but in fact I was quite an untold novice in the art of making a fool of myself. I was a freshman in college, a fact of condition perhaps which should serve as an excuse for both of us. I possessed another uncle, incidentally, and while I am now convinced that he must have felt as Uncle Elias did about it, he was one of those who suffer in silence.

In any event Uncle Elias did not leave me his money until my freshman days were far behind me, whereupon the money that he may have outgrown an opinion while I was going through the same process. At twenty-three I confessed that all freshmen were transferrable and immediately afterward took my degree and went out into the world to convince it that freshmen are by no means adolescent.

My uncle's original estimate of me—as a freshman, of course—was uttered when I at the age of eighteen picked out my walk in life so to speak. After considering everything I decided to be a literary man—a novelist or a playwright. I had a lot of a choice between the two, or perhaps a journalist, being a journalist, of course, was preliminary, a sort of makeshift. At any rate I was going to be a writer. My Uncle Elias, a hard headed customer, who had read Scott as a boy and the Wall Street News as a man without being misled by either, was scornful. He said that I would outgrow it; there was some consolation in that. He even admitted that when he was seventeen he wanted to be an actor. There you are!

I argued that novelists make a great deal of money and playwrights, too, for that matter. He said in reply that an ordinarily vigorous washerwoman could make more money than the average novelist, and she always had a stocking without a hole to keep it in, which was more to the point.

Now that I come to think of it, it was Uncle Elias who circularly prejudged me and not Uncle John, who was by way of being a sort of literary chap himself and therefore lamentably unqualified to guide me in any course whatsoever, especially as he had all but decided to keep his own wolf at bay without encouraging mine and who besides teaching good English loved it wisely and too well.

My mother felt in her heart that I ought to be a doctor or a preacher, but she wasn't mean. She was positive I could succeed as a writer if I set my mind to it. She was also sure that I could be president of the United States or perhaps even a bishop. We were Episcopals.

When I was twenty-seven my first short story appeared in a magazine of considerable weight, due to its advertising pages, but my Uncle Elias didn't read it until I had convinced him that the honorarium amounted to $300. Even then I was obliged to promise him a glimpse of the clock when I got it.

In course of time my first novel appeared. It was a love story. Uncle Elias read the first five chapters and then skipped over to the last page. Then he began it all over again and sat up nearly all night to finish it. The next day he called it "trash," but invited me to have luncheon with him at the Metropolitan club and, rather noisily introduced me to a few old cronies of his.

A month later he died. He left me a fortune, which was all the more staggering in view of the circumstances that had seen me named for my Uncle John and not for him.

It was not long afterward that I made a perfect fool of myself, by falling in love. It turned out very badly. I can't imagine what got into me to want to commit matrimony after I had already proclaimed myself to be irreversibly wedded to my profession. Nevertheless I deliberately covered the experience and would have attained to it no doubt had it not been for the young woman in the case. She would have none of me, but, with considerable independence of spirit and, I must say, noteworthy acumen, elected to wed a splendid looking young fellow who clerked in a jeweler's shop in Fifth avenue. They had been engaged for several years, it seems, and my swollen fortune failed to disturb her sense of duty. Perhaps you will be interested enough in a girl who could refuse to share a fortune of something like $100,000 (not counting mine, of course) to let me tell you briefly who and what she was. She was my typist—that is to say, she did placework for me as I happened to provide subsistence for her active fingers to work upon when she wasn't typing law briefs in the regular sort of kind. Not only was she an able typist, but she was an exceedingly wholesome, handsome and worthy young woman.

Somehow I was able to attribute the blame to an inherent sense of shyness that had always made me feel hearted, dainty and unapproachable. No doubt I had gone about it roughshod and I could have played hob with the excellent jeweler's peace of mind, to say the least.

Still, some men, no matter how shy and uncommunicative they may be, are reluctant, for that matter—are doomed to have love affairs thrust upon them, as you will perceive if you follow the course of this narrative to the bitter end.

In order that you may know me when you see me struggling through these pages, as you might struggle through a morass on a dark night, I shall take the liberty of describing myself in the best light possible under the circumstances.

I am a tallish sort of person, moderately homely and not quite thirty-five. I am strong, but not athletic. Whatever physical development I possess was acquired through the ancient and honorable game of golf and in swimming. In both of these sports I am quite proficient. My nose is rather long and inquisitive, and my chin is considered to be singularly firm for one who has no ambition to become a hero. My stomach is abundant and quite black. So there you are. Not quite what you would call a lady killer or even a lady's man; I fancy you'll say.

You will be surprised to learn, however, that secretly I am of a rather romantic, imaginative turn of mind. Since earliest childhood I have consorted with princesses and ladies of high degree—mentally, of course—and my bosom companions have been knights of valor and longevity.

At thirty-five I am still unattached and, so far as I can tell, unloved. For the past year I have done little or no work. My books are few and far between. My best work is done when the madding crowd is far from me.

A month ago, in Vienna, I felt the plot breaking out on me, very much as the measles do, at a most inopportune time for everybody concerned, and my secretary, more wise awake than you'd imagine by looking at him, urged me to coddle the nurse while she was willing.

It was especially annoying coming, as it did, just as I was about to set off for a fortnight's motorboat trip up the Danube with Elsie Hazzard and her stupid husband, the doctor.

The fourth day of our delectable excursion brought us to an ancient town whose name you would recall if I were fool enough to mention it and where we were to put up for the night. On the crest of a stupendous crag overhanging the river, almost opposite the town, which isn't far from Krems, stood the venerable but unweathered castle of that high handed old robber baron, the first of the Rothlofens.

We picked up a little of its history while in the town and the next morning crossed over to visit the place. Its antiquity was considerably enhanced by the presence of a caretaker who would never see slightly again and whose wife was even older. Their two sons lived with them in the capacity of loafers and, as things go in these rapid times of ours, appeared to be even older and more sere than their parents.

It is a winding and tortuous road that leads up to the portals of this huge old pile. Halfway up the hill we paused to rest, and I quite clearly remember growling that if the confounded thing belonged to me I'd build a funicular or install an elevator without delay.

The next day instead of continuing our delightful trip down the river we were scurrying to Sandburg, urged by a sudden and stupendous whim on my part and filled with a new interest in life.

I had made up my mind to buy the castle.

At the end of three days I was the sole owner and proprietor of a feudal stronghold on the Danube, and the joyous Austrian who had owned it was a little farther on his way to the dogs, a journey he had been negotiating.

The Venerable Castle of That High Handed Old Robber Baron, the First of the Rothlofens.

With great ardor I ever since have been in possession of an estate once valued at several millions.

To make the story short, the Hazzards and I returned to Schloss Rothlofen in some haste, primarily for the purpose of inspecting it from the inside.

Our second and more critical survey of the lower floors of the castle revealed rather urgent necessities for extensive repairs and refurbishing.

Not damaged by the earthquake, the castle was in good shape, but the roof was in a state of disrepair. The roof was in a state of disrepair. The roof was in a state of disrepair.

My friends, abhorring rheumatism and like complaints, refused to sleep over night in the drafty, almost palace, structure. They came over to see me on the ensuing day and begged me to return to Vienna with them.

Full of the project in hand, I would not be moved. With the house full of carpenters, blacksmiths, masons, lock-smiths, tinsmiths, plumbers, plasterers, glaziers, joiners, scrubwomen and chimney sweeps, I felt that I couldn't go away and leave it without a controlling influence.

Just as they were leaving my secretary and my valet put in an appearance, having been summoned from Vienna the day before. I confess I was glad to see them. The thought of spending a second night in that half-baked chamber, with its manner of night birds trying to get in at the window, was rather disturbing, and I welcomed my retainers with open arms.

My first night had been spent in a huge old bed, carefully prepared for occupancy by Herr Schmuck's frau. I knew there was a collar, for I had seen his bonnet during the daylight hours, but to save my soul I couldn't imagine anything so far away as it seemed to be after the candle had been taken away by the caretaker's wife, who had tucked me away in the bed with ample propriety and thoroughness combined.

Twice during that interminable night I thought I heard a baby crying. So it is not unreasonable to suppose that I was more than glad to see Poopendyke, my secretary, clambering up the path with his typewriter in one hand and his green baize bag in the other, followed close behind by Britton, my valet, and the Gargantuan brothers bearing trunks, bags, boxes and my golf clubs.

"Where?" said Poopendyke, dropping wearily upon my doorstep.

My secretary is a youngish man with thin, stooping shoulders and a habit of perpetually rubbing his knees together when he walks.

said I in some haste I felt sorry for him. "We are going to be very cozy here."

"Cozy?" murmured he, blinking. "I haven't explored those upper regions," I explained nervously, divining his thoughts. "We shall do it together in a day or two."

"It looks as though it might fall down if we jostled it carelessly," he remarked, having recovered his breath.

"I am expecting masons at any minute," said I, contemplating the unstable stone crest of the northeast turret with some uneasiness. My face brightened suddenly. "That particular section of the castle is uninhabitable, I am told. It really doesn't matter if it collapses. Ah, Britton! Here you are, I see Good morning!"

Britton, a very exacting servant, looked me over critically.

"Your coat and trousers need pressing, sir," said he. "And where am I to get the hot water for shaving, sir?"

"Frau Schmuck will supply anything you need, Britton," said I, happy on being able to give the information.

"It is not I as needs it, sir," said he, feeling of his smoothly shaved chin.

"Come in and have a look about the place," said I, with a magnificent sweep of my arm to counteract the feeling of utter insignificance I was experiencing at the moment.

A day or two later the castle was swarming with workmen. The banging of hammers, the rasp of saws, the splashing of mortar, the crashing of stone and the hum of charcoal crucibles extended to the remotest recesses. The tower of Isabel was being reconstructed in the language of six or eight nations.

Poopendyke, in great distress of mind, notified me on the fourth day of rehabilitation that the cost of labor as well as living had gone up appreciably since our installation. In fact it had doubled. He paid all of my bills, so I suppose he knew what he was talking about.

"You will be surprised to know, Mr. Smart," he said, consulting his sheets, "that scrubwomen are getting more here than they do in New York city, and I am convinced that there are more scrubwomen. Today we had thirty new ones scrubbing the loggia on the sun room floor, and they all seem to have apprentices working under them. The carpenters and plasterers were not so numerous today. I paid them off last night, you see. It may interest you to hear that their wages for three days amounted to nearly $700 in our money, to say nothing of materials and breakage."

"Breakage?" I exclaimed in surprise. "Yes, sir, breakage. They break nearly as much as they mend. We'll be well go bankrupt, sir, if we're not careful!"

I liked his pronoun "Never mind," I said, "we'll soon be rid of them."

"By the way," he said, "old man Schmuck and his family haven't been paid for nearly two years. They have put in a claim. This late winter assured them they'd get their money from the net."

"Discharge them at once," said I. "We can't get on without them," protested he. "They know the ropes, so to speak, and what's more to the point, they know all the keys. Yesterday I was nearly two hours in getting to the kitchen for a conference with Mrs. Schmuck about the mail et cetera. In the first place, I couldn't find the way, and in the second place all the doors are locked."

"Please send Herr Schmuck to me in the afternoon," I couldn't recall the name of the administration chamber at the head of the grand staircase, so I was compelled to say, "I'll see him here."

"If we lose them we also are lost," he believed him. We kept the Schmucks.

On the fifth day of our occupancy Britton reported to me that he had devised a plan by which we could utilize the tremendous horse power represented by the muscles of those hairy giants Rudolf and Max.

He suggested that we rig up a huge windlass at the top of the incline, with stout steel cables attached to a small car which could be hauled up the cliff by a hitherto unused human energy, and as readily lowered. It sounded feasible and I instructed him to have the extraordinary railway built, but to be sure that the safety device clutches in the cog wheels were sound and trusty.

That evening, after the workmen had fled down the steep looking for all the world like an evacuating army, I sought a few moments of peace and quiet in the small balcony outside my bedroom windows. My room was in the western wing of the castle, facing the river. The eastern wing mounted even higher than the one in which we were living, and was topped by the highest watch tower of them all. We had not attempted to do any work over in that section as yet, for the simple reason that Herr Schmuck couldn't find the keys to the doors.

Suddenly I found myself staring as if stupefied at the white figure of a woman who stood in the remotest balcony of the eastern wing, fully revealed by the last glow of the sun and apparently as deep in dreams as I had been the instant before.

CHAPTER II.

I Defend My Property

FOR ten minutes I stood there staring up at her, completely bewildered and not a little alarmed. My first thought had been of ghosts but it was almost instantly dispelled by a significant action on the part of the suspected woman. She turned to whistle over her shoulder and to snuff her fingers peremptorily, and then she stooped and picked up a rather lusty quail dog, which promptly barked at me across the intervening space, having discovered me almost at once, although I was many rods away and quite snugly ensconced among the shadows. The lady in white murmured him with her hand, and I could almost imagine I heard her reporting what

After a few minutes she apparently forgot the dog and lifted her hand to adjust something in her hair. He again barked at me, quite ferociously for a chow. This time it was quite plain to her that he was not barking at the now shadowy moon. She peered over the stone balustrade and an instant later disappeared from view through the high, narrow window.

Vastly exercised, I set out in quest of Herr Schmuck, marshaling Poopendyke as I went along, realizing that I would have to depend on his German, which was less biting than mine and therefore more likely to dovetail with that of the Schmucks, neither of whom spoke German because they loved it, but because they had to, being Austrians. We found the four Schmucks in the vast kitchen.

"Herr Schmuck," said I, "will you be so good as to inform me who the dickens that woman is over in the east wing of the castle?"

"Woman, mein herr?" He almost dropped his keys.

"A woman in a white dress, with a dog?"

"A dog!" he cried. "But, mein herr, dogs are not permitted to be in the castle."

"Who is she? How did she get there?"

"Heaven defend us, sir! It must have been the ghost of—"

"Ghost, your granny!" I cried, replying in English. "Please don't beat about the bush. Mr. Schmuck, she's over there in the unused wing which I haven't been allowed to penetrate in spite of the fact that it belongs to me. You say you can't find the keys to that side of the castle. Will you explain how it is that it is open to strange women and—dogs?"

"You must be mistaken, mein herr," he whined abjectly. "She cannot be there. She—Ah, I have it! It may have been my wife, Gretel! Have you been in the east?"

"Nonsense!" I cried sharply. "This won't do, Mr. Schmuck. Give me that bunch of keys. We'll investigate."

The four Schmucks wrung their hands and shook their heads and then, replying to the scullery, growled and grumbled for fully ten minutes before deciding to obey my commands.

In the meantime I related my experience to Poopendyke and Britton.

"That reminds me, sir," said Britton "that I found a rag doll in the court yard yesterday, on that side of the building, sir—I should say castle, sir."

"I am quite sure I heard a baby crying the second night we were here. Mr. Smart," said my secretary nervously.

"Come!" said I finally, grabbing the keys from the old man's unresisting hand.

Two abreast we filed through the long, vaulted halls.

"And, Schmuck, if that dog barks I'll hold you personally responsible. Do you understand?"

"Two abreast we filed through the long, vaulted halls, Rudolf carrying a gigantic lantern and Max a sledge. We traversed extensive corridors, mounted tortuous stairs and came at length to the sturdy oak door that separated the east wing from the west—a huge, formidable thing strengthened by many crosspieces and studded with rusty bolt heads. Padlocks as large as horseshoes, corroded by rust and rendered absolutely impracticable by age, confronted us.

"I have not the keys," said old Conrad Schmuck, sourly. "This door has not been opened in my time. It is no use."

"It is no use," repeated his grizzly sons, leaning against the moldy walls with weary tolerance.

"Smash those padlocks, Max," I commanded resolutely.

Very reluctantly Max bared his great arm, spit upon his hands and, with blind luck at his parents, prepared to deal the first blow upon the ancient padlock. But the padlock merely shed a few scales of rust and rattled back into its customary repose.

"Get!" cried Max, triumphantly. "It cannot be broken."

"It is a very fine lock," cried old Conrad, with a note of pride in his voice.

I began to feel some pride in the thing myself. "It is, indeed," I said. "Try once more, Max."

It seemed to me that he struck with a great deal more confidence than before, but without result.

"Give me the hammer," I said in desperation. Max surrendered the clumsy, old fashioned instrument with a grin and I motioned for them all to stand back. Three successive blows with all the might I had in my body failed to shatter the lock, whereupon my choler rose to heights hitherto unknown. I being a very mild mannered person and averse to anything savouring of the tempestuous, I detested a savage and resounding thrack upon the broad oak panel of the door, regardless of the destructive-ness that might attend the effort. If any one had told me that I couldn't splinter an oak board with a sledge hammer at a single blow I should have laughed in his face. But as it turned out in this case I not only failed to split the panel, but broke off the sledge handle near the head, putting it wholly out of commission for the time being as well as endangering my hands so severely that I doubled up with pain.

The Schmucks fairly glowed with joy! Afterward Max informed me that the door was nearly six inches thick and often had withstood the assaults of huge battering rams, back in the dim past when occasion induced the primal baron to seek safety in the east wing, which, after all, appears to have been the real, almost pure fortress.

As we trudged back to the lower halls, defeated, but none the less impressed by our failure to devastate our stronghold, I was struck by the awful barrenness of the surroundings. There suddenly came over me the shocking realization—the "contents" of the castle, as set forth rather vaguely in the bill of sale, were not what I had been led to consider them.

Herr Schmuck, said I, abruptly halting my party in the center of the hall, want, has become or the rings that were here last week, and where is that pile of furniture we had back, yonder?

Old Conrad was not slow in answering.

"The gentlemen called day before yesterday, mein herr, and took much away. I her will return tomorrow for the remainder."

"Gentlemen?" I gasped. "Remainder?"

The gentlemen to whom the horrid count sold the rugs and chairs and chests and—

"Where?" I roared. Even Poopendyke jumped at this sudden exhibition of wrath. "Do you mean to tell me that these things have been sold and carried away without my knowledge or consent? I'll have the law!"

Herr Poopendyke intervened. They had bills of sale and orders for removal of property dated several weeks prior to your purchase, Mr. Smart. We had to let the articles go. You surely remember my speaking to you about it."

"I don't remember anything," I snapped, which was the truth. "Why, why, I bought everything that the castle contained! This is robbery! What the dickens do you mean by—"

Old Conrad held up his hands as if expecting to pacify me. I spluttered out the rest of the sentence, which really amounted to nothing.

"The count has been selling off the lovely old pieces for the past six months, sir. Ach, what a stunt! They have come here day after day, these furniture buyers, to take away the most precious of our treasures, to sell them to the poor rich at twenty prices. I could weep over the sacrifices. I have wept, haven't I, Gretel? Eh, Rudolf? Buckets of tears have I shed, mein herr. Oceans of them. Time after time have I implored him to desist these rascally curio hunters, these bloodsuckers!"

"But listen to me," I broke in. "Do you mean to say that articles have been taken away from the castle since I came into possession?"

"Many of them, sir. Always with proper credentials, believe me. Ach, what a spendthrift he is! And his poor wife! Ach, Gott, how she must suffer! Nearly all of the grand paintings, the tapestries that came from France and Italy hundreds of years ago, the wonderful old bedsteads and tables that were here when the castle was new—all gone! And for mere songs, mein herr—the cheapest of songs! I—I—"

"Please don't weep now, Herr Schmuck! I made haste to exclaim, seeing lachrymose symptoms in his clear old eyes. Then I became firm once more. This man may cease or I'd know the reason why. The next man who comes here to cart away so much as a single piece is to be kicked out. Do you understand? These things belong to me. Kick him into the river. By Jove, I'd like to wring that rascal's neck! A count! Umph!"

"Ach, he is of the noblest family in all the land!" sighed old Gretel. "His grandfather was a fine man." I contrived to subdue my rage and disappointment and somewhat loudly returned to the topic from which we were drifting.

"As for those beastly padlocks, I shall have them filed off tomorrow. I give you warning, Conrad, if the keys are not forthcoming before noon tomorrow I'll file 'em off, so help me!"

"They are yours to destroy, mein herr, God knows," said he dismally. "It is a pity to destroy fine old padlocks!"

"Well, you wait and see," said I grimly.

His face beamed once more. "Ach, I forgot to say that there are padlocks on the other side of the door, just as on this side. It will be of no use to destroy there. The door still could not be forced. Mein Gott, how thankful I am to have remembered it in time!"

"Confound you, Schmuck! I believe you actually want to keep me out of that part of the castle!" I exploded.

The four of them protested manfully, even Gretel. "I have a plan, sir," said Britton. "Why not place a tall ladder in the courtyard and crawl in through one of the windows?"

"Splendid! That's what we'll do," I cried enthusiastically. And now let's go to bed. We will breakfast at 8. Mrs. Schmuck. The early bird catches the worm, you know."

"Will you see the American ladies, and gentlemen who are coming tomorrow to pick out the—"

"Yes, I'll see them," said I, compressing my lips. "Don't let me oversleep, Britton!"

"I shan't sir," said he. But I did. "Get up, sir, if you please," Britton repeated the third time. "The party of Americans is below sir, rummaging about the place."

"Where is Poopendyke?" I asked, leaping out of bed.

"Mr. Poopendyke is in despair, sir. He has tried to explain that nothing is for sale but the gentlemen say they are onto his game. They go right on ransacking about and putting their own prices on them and reserving them."

"I'll—I'll put a stop to all this," I grated, seeing red for an instant. "And the ladies, sir! There are three of them, all from New York city, and they keep on saying they are completely overjoyed, sir. Your great sideboard in the dining room is to go to Mrs. Riley-Werkholmer, and the hall seat that the first baron used to throw his armor on when he came in from—"

"Great snakes!" I roared. "They haven't moved it, have they? It will fall to pieces!"

"No, sir. They're piling sconces and candlesticks and andirons on it, regardless of what Mr. Poopendyke says. You'd better hurry, sir. Here's your collar and necktie!"

saw "Robin Hood" at the Colonial Theatre last night. The opera, itself is wonderfully good, and the company was superb. Everyone of the principals had a splendid voice and the chorus singing was a revelation.
Reynold De Koven's music certainly never was better sung though it is possible larger companies and principles with greater reputations may have been in the various reviews of the opera. It is a long time since an audience was so enthusiastic over a musical show in Conneltsville.

Rev. Scott, as Maid Marian, sang the principal soprano role in fine voice, though, suddenly suffering from a severe cold. Clara Tracy, round contralto was heard in the role of Andrew; Lorena Carmen was charming as Angel, George Shields as Will Scarlet blazoned a resounding bass,
and his number with the quartette
at the opening of the second act was never surpassed here. The comedy roles were well played by Phil Han-com as the Sheriff, E. J. McCarthy as Felix Tuck and Sol Solomon as Guy of Gisbourne. James Stevens, a fine baritone, sang several scenes with his "Brown October Ale" number.

The production was enhanced by a splendid orchestra and fine scenery.

THE FAMILY INCOME

How Money May be Spent and Some of It Saved.

There is far more money earned in most families than is spent wisely.
Usually the first article that comes to mind is purchased, when ready money is available. If a person who handles the family income has a checking account, a safe and wise use of it can be made and some of it will be saved for the future. The Citizens National Bank invites home checking accounts.

SUBVERSIVE

MELVIN, March 2.—Miss Jennie Wilmoth and daughter, Miss Grethchen, have returned from the south where they spent several weeks travelling with Mr. and Mrs. H. H.
C. of Glen Campbell.

Harry Rowe, who spent several days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowe, returned to his work at McDonald.

Miss Deborah Truxal, a member of the high school faculty at Bellevue, is spending a few days here with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Truxal, at the Reformers' parsonage.

L. A. Kemp, who had been on the sick list for the last three weeks, has recovered and left yesterday to resume his work at Cumberland, where he is employed with the Baltimore &
Ohio railroad.

Mrs. Louise Worz, who spent several weeks visiting at Martinsburg,
W. Va., returned to Meyersdale yesterday and is at home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs.
Clyde Howe, of Meyersdale.

Miss Catherine Meyers was at Cumberland today where she visited her sister, Miss Florence, who is recuperating from a recent operation in the Western Maryland Hospital.

Miss Nell Dine, one of the efficient teachers in the public schools, has been confined to her home since last Friday with an attack of grip. Mrs.
L. A. Bittner is substituting for her.
Mrs. Daniel Dahl has returned from a recent visit with relatives and friends in Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shannon were at Cumberland Monday, having been called there by the death of the former's sister, Mrs. Clark, who was buried there yesterday morning.

To the Housewife.
Madam, if your husband is like most men he expects you to look after the health of yourself and children.
Coughs and colds are the most common of the minor ailments and are most likely to lead to serious diseases.
A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when it has a cold. If you will inquire into the merits of the various remedies
that are recommended for coughs and colds, you will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy stands high in the estimation of people who use it.
It is prompt and effective, pleasant and safe to take, which are qualities especially to be desired when the medicine is intended for children. For sale by all dealers—Adv.

Queen Elizabeth's Fifteen-Inch Guns Lead in Attacking Dardanelles Forts

QUEEN ELIZABETH IN ACTION

Among the warships in the allies' fleet in the Dardanelles is the great new English super-Dreadnought Queen Elizabeth, recently completed. This warship is considered the most terrible one afloat in its capacity for destruction. She carries eight fifteen-inch guns, is rated at twenty-one knots and is of 27,500 tons displacement. Her guns can easily outshoot anything that is carried in the Dardanelles forts. A map showing the location of these forts gives an idea of the difficulty confronting the allies in forcing a way through.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Easier, Quicker
and Without the Blister

There's no sense in making up a mess
of mustard, flour and water when you can so easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white MUS-TEROLE.

MUSTEROLE is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients,
combined in the form of a pleasant white ointment. It takes the place of the outdated mustard plaster, and will not blister.

MUSTEROLE gives prompt relief
from Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Sore Neck, Asthma, Neuritis, Lumbago, Convulsion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pain and Aches of the Back or Joint, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frostbite, Cold of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars,
and a special large hospital size for $2.50.
Be sure you get the genuine MUS-TEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Women are Newly Interested in the Wonderful Suit Styles of 1915

Shown on the Floor of Fashions at Wright-Metzler Company

The suits for women, except in some instances, are simple, mannish and dignified;
but for the younger set fanciful ideas seem
to rule.
We see Shepherd checks, plaid stripes and plain colors, the last named in Belgium
blue, putty, sand, navy, exposition green
and other shades and tints, and black.

Coats are short, plain or belted, and with notch or military collars. Some of the skirts have pleats, and all are wide.

The little distinguishments—odd buttons,
military braids, fancy collars, belt effects
and other embellishments give the necessary feminine touch and take the suits
out of the ordinary class.

Special Mention Of

16.50 to $35. Suits Unusual in Style and Value

- (a) Shepherd plaid suit with four patch pockets, buttoned. Three-button coat, regular waist line belted; and a plain circular
skirt ..... $22.50
- (b) Attractive suit of navy-colored wool poplin. Loose coat without buttons, fastening at the belt. Vestee, tailored bow at back of belt, fancy silk collar. Yoke
skirt ..... $16.50
- (c) Tipperary suit of putty-colored Gabardine. A strictly military suit in color and looks. Loose belt, four pockets in the coat and two in the skirt. Yoke back, square collar and military fastenings ..... $25
- (d) Dressy suit of sand color wool poplin.
Brain and pendant ornaments, wide lapels circular skirt with yoke. Its price is ..... $25
- (e) Mannish, patch pocket suit of Battleship grey French virgool. Yoke skirt with a 6 inch cuff on the bottom ..... $29.75
- (f) Sarah Bernhardt model. Black-and-white Shepherd pin check suit with a 2-piece circular skirt, odd lapels and other individualities ..... $35

We have added to the stock this season, suits for women of extreme bust and straight front. These are supplied in different models and textures and will be found pleasing and attractive to women who can't be well fitted with regular size suits; or the usual odd size models. An assortment now on view.
